What Matters Most?

Dear Friends in Christ,

October is an interesting month in the life of the church. The leaves begin to change, the days grow shorter, and we begin to recognize that summer is truly behind us. At church, we settle back into the rhythms of worship, Bible study, music, fellowship, and service.

This October, the Gospel readings give us another reason to pause and ask an important question: What matters most?

The Revised Common Lectionary takes us through several challenging passages this month. We hear the Ten Commandments, the story of the golden calf, Jesus' teaching about giving to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and finally Jesus' answer when he is asked which commandment is the greatest.

Jesus' answer is remarkably simple:

"Love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind."

And then he adds:

"Love your neighbor as yourself."

There is something wonderfully uncomplicated about those words—and something incredibly difficult.

We live in a world that constantly tells us what should matter most. We are encouraged to measure our lives by what we own, what we accomplish, how successful we appear, how many people agree with us, or how much influence we have. We can easily become so focused on the things competing for our attention that we forget the things that give our lives meaning.

Jesus brings us back to the center.

Love God.

Love your neighbor.

That does not mean that the rest of life is unimportant. Our families matter. Our work matters. Our communities matter. The decisions we make matter. But Jesus reminds us that all of these things find their proper place when they are grounded in love of God and love of neighbor.

I think that is one of the reasons the church is so important.

The church is not simply a place where we come once a week to hear a few Bible verses and sing some hymns. The church is a community where we practice remembering what matters. We gather around Word and Sacrament. We pray for one another. We learn together. We serve our neighbors. We share meals. We welcome people who are looking for a place to belong. And, perhaps most importantly, we remind one another that our lives are rooted in something larger than ourselves.

At St. Paul's, we have many opportunities to do exactly that this fall. Through worship, Bible study, the Community Meal and Clothing Closet, Kitchen Angels, our music ministries, and the many ways we serve our community, we have opportunities to put Jesus' words into practice.

None of us will do it perfectly. We will sometimes get distracted. We will sometimes put other things ahead of God and our neighbor. We will sometimes disagree about what faithfulness looks like.

But the good news of the Gospel is that God's love does not depend upon our getting everything right.

God continues to meet us with grace.

So perhaps October is a good month to ask ourselves a simple question:

What matters most?

And perhaps Jesus' answer is still the best place to begin.

Love God.

Love your neighbor.

And trust that, in doing so, we are learning to live the life God has given us—not perfectly, but faithfully, together.

The Prophet Jeremiah

...they have forsaken me, the fountain of living water.
(Jeremiah 2:13b)

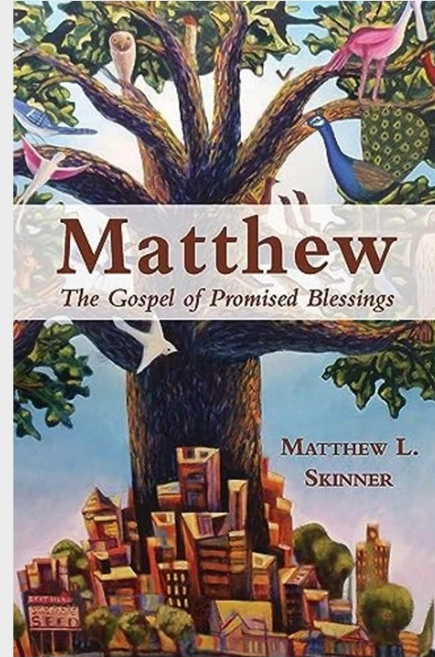

Jeremiah the Prophet

Jeremiah was given an important but very difficult assignment to accomplish - to speak truthfully about the failures of the people of Judah and to remind them of the One in whom they ought to put their trust, the Lord God of all creation. The book is filled with warnings, wisdom, and encouragement for living faithfully today.

Matthew: The Gospel of Promised Blessings

By: Matthew L. Skinner

The Gospel of Matthew portrays Jesus and his message as full of tender compassion and urgent warning. This six-part exploration of an enigmatic Gospel takes readers into the themes, topics, and tensions at the heart of Matthew's story about the life and work of Jesus.

Chapters focus on blessing and comfort, judgment and retribution, the meaning of discipleship, Jesus' vision for the Church and world, conflicts and complaints, and how the Gospel of Matthew speaks to believers today.

It's the Season for Mums

Several of our members enjoyed a lovely day shopping for mums.

Church Council Highlights

Report from September, 2026

Pastor Mark gave a brief report on those in our church family who are sick or homebound.

The supplies we gathered for the Family Center were delivered by Phyllis Staver and we are grateful for the generosity of the congregation in this outreach.

Dan Farrer informed council that the pastor's health insurance costs will increase by 15% in the new year. Our July and August financial statements improved from past months.

Jim Johnson reported that the air handler shaft in the sanctuary has been successfully repaired. Coon Restoration is on site to repair some stone and masonry issues on the building.

The agenda for the September 13th special congregational meeting regarding organ repair was discussed at some length. We will recommend up to $60,000 for pipe repair to begin as soon as possible, probably by June 2027, and up to $180,000 for the electrical work.

Pastor Mark will assemble a task force to begin a fall campaign for raising funds for organ and building repairs. Brady Rupp has agreed to be the face of the committee in reporting to the congregation, etc.

The informational meetings for the Education Building will be held after worship on Sept 20 and October 4.

Respectfully submitted,

Kathryn Myers, Congregational President

Ed Building Q&A Meeting

Our Next Meeting is
Oct. 4th

Education Building Informational Session

On October 4th, our final question and answer session will be held after church to discuss the future of the Education Building. Patty Long has graciously given the Sunday School time slot for this meeting.

There are 4 proposals as to the future of this building and important decisions need to be made. As some proposals involve heating and cooling issues, decisions must be made very soon.

The meeting will explain these proposals, discuss the costs of each, and give you an opportunity to ask questions and express your views. A written survey will also be distributed so that you can express your wishes.

Organ Repair Donations

If you wish to make donations specifically for organ repair, please mark your envelopes as such. If you give electronically, see Dan Farrar for details.

September Clothing Closet Report

Report by Carol Stoner

We were busy again this month with approximately 70 shoppers, both repeat customers and those who are new to our ministry.

Thank you so much for your continued generous donations.

We are currently in need of fall and winter donations, i.e., boots, coats, sweaters, blankets, sheets, hats, gloves, etc. Housewares and décor are our patrons' favorites. We provided many school supplies to those in need.

We can use books, audio books, magazines, videos and music.

We are starting to gather prizes for the Christmas games we host at the Community Meal in December. We also provide favors for everyone which include toiletries and candies. These are always a big hit.

Please consider joining us any second Friday of the month to see your contributions in action. We never leave without feeling gratified to provide this needed service. We meet to work most Saturday's from 12:30 pm to 2:30. If you have time to help us sort and organize items, please let us know. We really appreciate the help.

While considering the Education Building please remember the important part our closet plays in our community. Come see us and the rooms we stock with men's, women's, children's clothing and extras we provide. While we would continue this ministry, space is a concern.

Questions! please contact: Tracie Schmolt or Carol Stoner. Please continue to pray for our partner Cindy Lash as she recovers.
